STILL NO GOVERNMENT.

THE CITIZEN WHIPPING THE MALCONTENTS.

The Governor-General has not yet Secured a Leader—Tupper's Claim Advanced—Evidences of a Serious Disagreement—Dominion Still Without a Government.

OTTAWA, June 12.—Dissatisfaction among the Tory leaders continues to grow and there is little likelihood of them uniting on any one man to lead the party. As an illustration of this the Citizen appears again this morning with another article entitled "Duty of the Hour." After carefully culling from the Opposition newspapers the objections to Sir Hector Langevin and Sir John Thompson, as leaders, the Citizen goes on to say: "What is the duty of the hour? We take it that no Conservative, no well-wisher of his country, no high-minded and unselfish Canadian, would for one moment consider his personal interests, except as merged into the general interests of the great commonwealth. This being so, the strongest possible man, the man drawing around him the collective strength of the party, the man best known to the electorate, at large, the man identified with Canada since confederation, should first be considered. That man is beyond doubt Sir Charles Tupper, and whether he would accept or decline the position we are perfectly unaware. "The Citizen does not mention the name of Abbott, but the following extract refers to him:" A provisional premier will be a public proclamation of weakness; a flag of truce never yet displayed by Conservatives." Beyond the Citizen and a few personal friends of Sir Charles, no one here has so far suggested him as a candidate. Some of the leading Conservatives are of opinion that if he put in an appearance here he would force his way to the premiership, but that on no condition should he be sent for.

La Piene, Chapleau's organ, is still booming Thompson, while Le Monde, Langevin's organ, still favors a provisional premier, which the Citizen condemns as an admission of weakness. As time advances the difficulties in the way of uniting on a man multiply, and the probability of an open rupture among the party is becoming every day more apparent. Lord Stanley arrived at his office at noon to-day and a few minutes afterwards Sir John Thompson entered. This gave rise to the impression that he had been called on to form a government and very shortly a dozen newspaper correspondents were waiting the return of the Minister of Justice. He did so in an hour's time. On being interviewed he said that no one had been yet called to form a government and he had no instructions on that point. His own visit was on department business. The fact of Lord Stanley's not calling any one to day makes many assert that Tupper has been called.

A Murderess.

CANYONVILLE, June, 12. — S. Booth, bachelor, an old pioneer, residing 12 miles south of Canyonville, was shot by Mary Booth, wife of W. Booth, yesterday at about 2 p.m. A doctor was called and immediately went to the scene of the shooting. He pronounced the wound fatal. The shot entered the lower part of the left shoulder and came out a little above and on one side of the left nipple, inflicting an ugly and a large wound. The cause of the shooting, it seems, was that Booth and the woman had some words about some firewood the old man had carefully collected and placed in the yard. Mrs. Booth, it appears, burned it up in a heap, whereupon Booth went into the house and complained to Mrs. Booth about it. Mrs. Booth at once grabbed a gun and said: "I will kill you." Booth was standing near a partition door, and threw up his hands and said: "My God, don't shoot me," closing the door at the same time. Mrs. Booth shot through the door. The wounded man crawled away from the house about 300 yards, where, by shouting, he made some school children hear him. Booth is 75 years old. He sent for a justice of the peace, who drew up his will, and he willed his property to a sister in Michigan. The deputy sheriff went to arrest the woman about 3 o'clock this morning.

Break in Freight Rates.

NEW YORK, June 12.—The Herald says the manager of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railway have made no concealment of their dissatisfaction with the allowance of a 7 cents differential to the West Shore and Canadian Pacific route to the Northwest. A dispatch from Chicago last (Wednesday) night says the Lackawanna has filed a tariff with the Interstate Commerce Commission making the rates from New York to St. Paul and Minneapolis by way of Chicago, on a basis of $1.07 for a first class, thus meeting the Canadian Pacific reduced rate. The belief is expressed that this means a general break in freight rates to the Northwest.

Balmaceda Invites a Conference.

NEW YORK, June 12.—A cablegram from Iquiqui, Chili, to the Herald says: All reports that the congressional party is disposed to sue for peace with Balmaceda have been effectually disposed of by the action of the former to-day. President Balmaceda, in fact, has taken the first step toward negotiations by sending word to the congressional leaders here that if they had any new proposition for a settlement of the quarrel, he would receive them through Mr. Egan, United States minister to Chili. The congressionalists replied to day that they had no proposition to make, as they represented the legal government of Chili and regarded Balmaceda as a usurper. It is not known here whether Minister Egan has been authorized to act in any way as a mediator between the parties in Chili, but it is not thought likely that Balmaceda would have used his name without authority from Washington. In any event, however, nothing so far has resulted from this attempt.

NEW DIGGINGS STRUCK.

Paying Dirt Found in Westminster---The Streets Will Run Gold.

NEW WESTMINSTER, June 12.—There is a gold mine in Trapp's cellar. An ex miner washed a pan of the earth taken from the excavation and found platinum and colors of gold. He repeated the tests and was surprised to find more rich colors. The discovery awoke the mining fever, which in every mining community never wholly dies, although it may be dormant, and the old Cariboo veterans are talking about tunneling, and sluicing, and hydraulicing, etc. If the bank of earth is only half as rich as reported, the real estate boom will soon give place to a mining boom, And, speaking seriously, there is nothing to be surprised at should it be found that there is a stratum of auriferous gravel under Westminster, for have not the sand bars of the Fraser yielded their gold to the miners for the past 20 years. Further tests will be made, and it is not out of the range of possibility that claims will be staked off in the very center of the city.

THE SEALING QUESTION.

Washington Advices Say that Sealing Will be Stopped this Year.

WASHINGTON CITY, June 10.—The government is actively engaged in preparing to carry out a plan for a close season in Behring sea this year. It is understood that the force of revenue cutters now in those waters are to be supplemented by one or more naval vessels at the earliest possible moment. The necessary order has not been sent out from the navy department up to the close of business to-day, and detail officers will not discuss the future movements of the department, but there is reason to believe that orders will not long be delayed. There are four vessels at Mare island ready for sea. The British men-of-war available for service in Alaskan waters are few in number. The larger part of the Pacific squadron was sent to Chili some months ago, and has not yet returned. The British Government, it is known, wishes the agreement to be strictly observed. A proposition was made by Minister Pauncefote that authority be given the British Government to station an agent on the seal islands to make sure that the North American Company does not kill more than 7500 seals, as fixed in the agreement, but on this ground the request was promptly denied by the President, who felt that it was a reflection on the good faith of this government that could not be permitted. For another reason, however, he saw fit to allow a British agent to visit the seal islands, and that was in order that he might see for himself, and report to his government, for its guidance in arbitration, the actual state of the seal fisheries.

Meanwhile the poachers are believed to be taking a large number of skins, and killing the mother seals while they are at sea in search of food for their young.

Ostracised by Friends.

NEW YORK, June 16.—The Herald says: We have been requested by the Garner family, whose action has the approval of the whole family, to print the following statement. Several papers have by mistake stated that one of Miss Florence Garner's (now Lady Gordon-Cummings) sisters was present at her marriage. The eldest, La Marquise de Bretuil is at present in New York with her husband, the youngest, Miss Edith Garner, is at Vienna with her aunt Mrs. Laurence. The family wish to rectify this mistake, and also to state that not one of Miss Garner's relations were present at her marriage. It is needless to add that being of age she took this step against the wishes of her entire family. The meaning of this more than startling announcement is at once apparent. From it, it is evident that absolute social ostracism is the penalty which the young wife must pay—nothing else. It is a social pronouncement from which there is no appeal.

An Insane Man's Act.

WILMINGTON, N. C., June 12—Benjamin Matthewson was shot to death on Market street to-day by Robert Trask. Matthewson was a stranger to Trask. The latter was undoubtedly insane. Matthewson was walking with a friend and met Trask, who without any warning drew a pistol on him. He called to an officer and told him that the man had drawn a pistol on him. Trask thereupon turned and pointed the pistol at Terry, who instead of clubbing the man attempted to get at his own pistol. Trask then fired two shots in quick succession at Matthewson, the last ball striking the unfortunate man in the forehead, and passing through the brain. He then turned upon Terry and fired at him, the ball grazing his neck. Matthewson died almost immediately. He was from Brooklyn, N. Y., and a married man. His wife with two small children was at the Benitz House at the time.

DISMISSED THE ARMY.

PERTINENT QUERIES TO THE SECRETARY OF STATE.

Sir Wm. Gordon-Cumming's Name Erased From the Army—Cabinet to Consider Evidence in the Baccarat Case—Mrs. Cumming Ostracized by her own Family

LONDON, June 13.—On Monday next at the House of Commons, Wm. Summers, liberal, and Henry P. Cobb, radical non-conformist, will question the Secretary of State for War as to what course he intends to pursue in regard to Field-Marshall the Prince of Wales, General Owen Williams and Lieut. Berkeley Lovett, who signed the document which allowed Sir William Cumming to remain an officer of the British army; what action he proposes to take in regard to the army regulations, which call for bringing such cases to the attention of the commanding officers.

The erasure of the name of Sir Wm. Gordon-Cumming from the British army is gazetted.

LONDON, June 12.—The United Press correspondent learned to-day that a meeting of members of the cabinet had been called to consider the evidence following the baccarat trial, and especially the unprecedented criticism upon royalty in the press and among the people. There is no thought of any legal action unless the Wilsons or others should conclude to prosecute for libel, but there is a feeling in the highest circles of the government that the monarchy is shaken by the harshness of discussion touching the heir to the throne. Assaults of this character have heretofore been confined to social clubs and disreputable newspapers. They are heard everywhere. What the government most dreads is the proposed attack upon the prince by the Radicals in parliament, under the shield of discussing the army. It is intimated that they intend to demand that the Prince shall resign his office as a field marshal of the army. This the government will oppose.

CREATED A SENSATION.

The speech of Herr Reickert in the Landtagt reverting to the recall of Bismarck as the only man capable of administering the empire, has created a sensation throughout Germany.

CAPRIVI IN TROUBLE.

The Freisinnige party is pledged to immediate abolition of German duties, and the party organs everywhere express substantial approval of Herr Reickert's utterance. The chancellor seemed astonished yesterday when the speech was delivered. His countenance, usually impassive and dignified, betrayed the agitation of his mind. It is reported that Caprivi may lay his resignation before the Kaiser at an early date, being no longer able to bear the strain of the pressure from the throne on the one hand and the friends of Bismarck on the other.

NOT DISPLEASED.

It is stated that the Prince of Wales caused it to be communicated to Lord Salisbury, that he (the Prince) felt no displeasure on account of the manner that Sir Edward Clarke had handled his client's case. The reports that Sir Edward had been informed by members of the ministry that they disapproved of his allusions to the Prince, are pronounced as untrue.

STATE INSURANCE.

France is following the example of Germany in providing state insurance for aged and disabled workingmen. The payments by workingmen are to be voluntary, and at the end of thirty years a workingman may claim from 300 to 600 francs per year. Assuming that five and one-half millions of workingmen should insure it is estimated that the eventual charge on the state would be about one hundred million of francs annually.

THE OMNIBUS DRIVERS.

The omnibus drivers deny the statement of the company's directors, that to concede their demands would mean bankruptcy. They say that dividends as high as 12 per cent. have been paid, besides a reserve fund of $200,000. What the men distinctly want, he says, is 12 hours a day and from sixpence to eightpence a hour. They also want the company to stop persecuting any men and non-unions alike.

A YOUNG FOOL.

Another sprig of nobility, who is making an interesting exhibition of himself, is Bevel Granville Carteret Thynne, grandson of the second Marquis of Bath, and also of Richard B. Sheridan. Young Thynne owes about £11,000, and has about £35 to pay it with. He frankly confesses that he has spent all the money on a woman not his wife. His father is willing to pay his creditors something if he would go to South Africa, now the Mecca of penniless nobility. As the young man has a reversionary interest of value, he may have to pay up without regard to South Africa.

WANTS A CURIO.

It has leaked out that the proprietor of a well known waxworks and curio exhibition has been trying to get hold of the famous baccarat counters. They are said, however, to be inaccessable.

SIR CHARLES DILKE'S RETURN.

Sir Chas. Dilke has agreed to contest the Forest of Dean at the next general election.

DECEASED WIFE'S SISTER.

The effort to force the deceased wife's sister bill through the House yesterday did not help the measure any. The friends of the bill, taking advantage of the absence of members at Ascot, thought the time opportune, but a few of the Tories talked against time and defeated the object. The Tories brought forward the most astonishing arguments. They declared that a bill permitting a man upon the death of his wife to marry her sister was equivalent to a bill to permit incest. Others argued that it was an injustice to the clergy to compel them to act contrary to their conscientious principles in marrying persons bearing such relationship. Mr. Tomlinson, Conservative member for Preston, offered an amendment, that when a wife died her afflicted partner shall send registered letters to her sisters, declaring that he has conscientious objections to marrying any of them, and will therefore not avail himself of the privileges of the new act. The amendment was ruled out of order as trifling with the time of the House. During the debate, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain and Home Secretary Matthews became involved in a curiously warm discussion over the legitimacy of children born of such marriages in the past, the former contending that the present law is unjust and that its victims are entitled to reparation, while the latter ridiculed that position. The vexed question seems as far as ever from final adjustment.

At Westminster Abbey.

LONDON, July 12.—Solemn requiem services in commemoration of Sir John Macdonald were observed at Westminster Abbey to-day. The Queen was represented by members of the royal family and high officials of her Court. The vast edifice was crowded.

Declined the Honor.

LONDON, June 12.—Sir William Gordon-Cummings requested the municipal authorities of Forest not to celebrate, as they proposed on Saturday, his return home with his bride.

PETERSON'S REPLY.

The following letter was received from John Muirhead this morning:

"I have heard about McLean's challenge to Peterson. Mr. F. Campbell sent me two telegrams. The first stated that a race would be made I answered that Peterson would row, but we wanted $200 for expenses. He (Mr. Campbell) sent back word that McLean would not give any expense money; but that he would make the race for $1000 or $1200 a side. I answered that we had to be allowed $150 or no race, or if McLean would come here we would allow him $200. My reasons for asking for expenses are these: An oarsman when asked to leave home is always allowed expenses. McLean names the course and the kind of boat, an outrigged skiff. Peterson never rowed in one; in fact, he never saw one. If the race is made we have yet to get a boat built. The sum of $150 is about one third of what our expenses will be in such a race; but I am always willing to meet any person half way to arrange a good square boat race and in this case I think I have given McLean the big half already. If McLean or his backers do not want to give the expenses perhaps some of the towns on the Sound would have the race take place in their city. We are not particular where the race is rowed. Water is water all the world over and if we get beat it will be on account of the man, not the water. If the race is made right away we will come and do the best we can, one month from date. I have to be at home on or about the 13th August and Peterson will require a month's training.

(Signed.) J. MUIRHEAD.

THE TURF.

W. J. McKeon, jr., and Jno. Gannon returned from Tacoma last evening, where they have been with the Victoria mare, Belle Watts. Mr. McKeon says Victorians should feel proud of the little mare, as she did splendid work on the Sound. She took second money in the 2:55 class, which was won by Klamath in 2:27¼, with Belle Watts a good second. She took third place in the 2:40 class, but will likely get second money, as a protest has been entered against the first horse.

Maud C. is still in Tacoma and will be over Saturday night. She did not get a chance to show herself at Kent, as the races were declared off.

CRICKET.

CALIFORNIA CRICKETERS.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—The chances of a British Columbia trip being made by local cricketers in August are decidedly favorable. The California Cricket Association has taken the matter vigorously in hand and is actively pushing preliminary preparations. A letter asking for fuller particulars as to the proposals of British Columbia cricketers has been addressed to the secretary of the Victoria association and an answer is expected within one week. If this is of a satisfactory character arrangements will be perfected as soon as possible. About seven of the best local cricketers have already signified their ability and willingness to make the trip.

CYCLING.

The Islander Wanderer's cycling club will meet in Trounce Avenue at 1.30 to-morrow afternoon, for a run to Langford Plains. A pace maker will have charge of the run, and the pace will be slow so that all can attend.

Francis Bourchier has decided to offer the Bourchier medal for a race open to all, which will take place a week from to-morrow. There will be a large number of entries for it.

Quick Handling of Freight.

As an illustration of how quick a dispatch of freight can be made from Victoria was illustrated last night at outer wharf. The Zambesi had discharged 120 tons of rice and general merchandise for Port Townsend which should reach its destination at once. Davidge & Co., the agents, raised for the steamer Geo. E. Starr to carry the freight over and she arrived at 10 o'clock last night and at 2 a. m. she had the freight on board, and had cleared and started for Port Townsend without a single sack or piece of merchandise missing.

ROYALTY AT STAKE.

The Baccarat Scandal Shaking English Society to Its Centre.

LONDON, June 10.—A Baptist conference in Todmarden, Lancaster county, has sent a memorial to the private secretary of the Prince of Wales praying that the Prince, in view of the misery and ruin in the country, due to the prevalence of gambling, shall in the future decline to engage in it, or to countenance gambling in any form. The Baptist conference at Hastings has sent a memorial to Sir Francis Knowlys similar to the one sent by the Todmarden conference, and expressed the deepest regret that the future king of England ever indulged in gambling.

Solicitor-General Sir Edward Clarke is ill and thoroughly exhausted to-day. He has entirely lost the use of his voice, and was obliged to retire from an important case in which he was retained for to-day.

The denunciation of the Prince of Wales by the newspaper press, and especially his denunciation by the Tory press, has caused a sensation throughout Great Britain, and it is freely asserted that the revelations made during the trial of the baccarat scandal suit in court are judged to have done more to imperil the monarchy than any event which has taken place for many years past in England. The flat assertion made by the Chronicle to the effect that until the Prince of Wales on oath swears as "his confederates" did, that he "did not violate the solemn pledge that he gave to Sir William Gordon-Cummings, the heir apparent rests under an imputation of dishonor quite as shameful as that which the jury put on Sir William Gordon-Cummings," reflects the general feeling on the subject.

The precise court proceedings were telegraphed each night to the Queen, who is now at Balmoral castle in Scotland, and Her Majesty is said to have expressed her displeasure in such strong terms that Truth asserts that it would not be surprised if the court of the queen's bench revelations were the cause of the Earl of Coventry's resignation of his office as master of Her Majesty's buck hounds, or chief of the r[illegible] hunt of Her Majesty's household, fo[illegible] which office the earl draws an annual salary of $7500. The Queen does not attempt to conceal the fact that she is angry with every one connected with the baccarat scandal, and the effects of her royal displeasure may yet be felt in several quarters.

The Star to-day, under the heading, "Royalty at Stake," says that the Prince of Wales may head his race. The women of his house are virtuous, self-restrained and reliant. English people throughout the world want the men to be more like the women of this royal line. It adds: "This is a proud country and the man who aspires to represent Englishmen must keep everything about him fresh and bright, and must be exceedingly jealous of his reputation and must not be known as a baccarat banker and a specialist in gaming counters."

At the Primitive Methodist Conference now being held at Northampton, several speakers denounced the Prince of Wales for the share he took in the baccarat scandal. In addition some of the speakers urged that the Prince of Wales should not be allowed to succeed to the throne unless he abandons gambling. The Conference will consider to-morrow some resolutions upon this subject which have been presented to it.

ROYALTY UNDER A CLOUD.

News reached the city at a late hour this evening that a disagreeable scene occurred at the Ascot races, to-day, an unfavorable demonstration to the Prince of Wales being made. An attempt has been made to hush the matter up, and the newspapers have been solicited from influential quarters to make no mention of the facts, or to at least minimize the importance of the affair. It seems that, as the Prince was driving up with a party of his noble friends, the crowd in the vicinity, composed mostly of well-dressed people, but with a sprinkling of a rougher element, hooted and jeered His Royal Highness, making sarcastic allusions to the baccarat scandal. Some cried out: "Have you brought your counters with you?" Others indulged in more offensive thrusts. The aristocratic group around the Prince, though apparently too astonished and startled to be in full possession of their wits, managed to make a counter demonstration of rather a weak sort in support of the Prince, who was himself pale with anger, and who cast furious glances at his insulters. This is believed to be the first time a disrespectful demonstration has ever been made against the Prince of Wales by any crowd bearing any claim to respectability, and the incident is even more significant than the lecturing that he has been getting during the past few days from the religious and secular newspapers.

THE PRINCE VERY SULKY.

The outspoken newspaper comments upon the part of the Prince of Wales played in the baccarat scandal continues to be the sensation of the day in England and elsewhere. A newspaper reporter, who was present and near the Prince of Wales, to-day, says the Prince is in a very sulky frame of mind, caused, it would appear, by the storm of adverse newspaper criticism which has swept, and is still sweeping, over the heir apparent.

A CRUSADE AGAINST GAMBLING.

The anti-baccarat crusade was recently begun and will probably extend rapidly all over the Kingdom. The landlord of the Albert Hotel at Nottingham was arrested and fined £10 yesterday and his license was revoked, for keeping his house open after regular hours and permitting the objectionable baccarat to be played. Five others who were indulging in this game so much loved by the Prince of Wales, were fined £1 each.

BUTCHERED IN BUTTE.

An Editor Murdered on the Street at Midnight.

HELENA, June 10.—Editor W. H. Penrose, of the British Mining Journal, was murdered in that city about one o'clock this morning. He had been at his home during the night, but at that hour he left for down town.

At the corner of Galena and Montana streets he was struck on the head with a billet of wood, knocked down, and a revolver held to his left temple and fired, the bullet entering his brain and causing instant death. Three men were seen running from the place of the murder, but there is scant clue to their identity.

Penrose had of late been waging a violent personal attack on "professional workingmen," who vigorously reciprocated in kind. Penrose was a fearless man, and let no consideration of his own life deter the expression of an opinion in his paper. The trouble grew out of his opposition on the eight-hour bill introduced in the last legislature, of which he was a member. Some think he was killed by personal enemies whom he had assailed in this warfare.

The Butte city council voted $1,000, and James A. Murray wired from San Francisco $1000 reward for the arrest and conviction of the murderers. The coroner's inquest failed to find a tangible clue.

Belle Browning, a woman with whom he had maintained relations, has been arrested on suspicion, but she denies any knowledge.

SLUMBERING REVOLUTION.

A Hawaiian Proposes to Force the Queen to Sign a Constitution.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12. — The steamer Mariposa, from Australia and Honolulu, brings the latest news from the Sandwich Islands. While the Mariposa was in Honolulu, there was some talk of a revolution by the adherents of the Bush and Wilcox party. Wilcox, it will be remembered, led a revolution against the late Kalakaua's cabinet, and got out of sight when the danger commenced. The insurrection was squelched in short order, and Wilcox was jailed. The rebel did not suffer, however, being soon released, and he was afterwards elected to parliament. His restless spirit, however, seems to have become again unsettled. His cry at that time was "Hawaii for the Hawaiians," as it is now. He has declared that there must be a modification of the constitution against the whites and in favor of the natives. The Queen is at present visiting one of the other islands, and Wilcox has chartered a steamer to visit her, and compel her to sign a constitution which he and his party have drawn up. He proposed in the event of Queen Lilioukalani refusing to comply with his demands, to seize the person of the Queen and hold her until the insurrection, so as to carry their point. It is a bold scheme, and the results will be probably very serious if the abduction be attempted.

The water famine is said not to be as bad as was reported by the Australia. While there is great scarcity of the precious liquid, it is stated there is plenty to satisfy the needs of the people, if used economically.

CITY COUNCIL.

Extensions of the Tramway Line and Other Matters Disposed of.

Council was called to order at 8 o'clock sharp last evening.

The Mayor occupied the chair, and with the exception of Ald. Richards there was a full board present.

COMMUNICATIONS

Were received from secretary of Board of Trade, Toronto, forwarding a resolution of the council of that body regretting that Victoria should impose a tax on commercial travelers.—Received and clerk instructed to inform the Toronto Board of Trade that the law complained of had not been enforced for some time.

Returning officer, submitting report of the result of election on the Agricultural Society by-law.—Received and ordered spread on the minutes.

W. K. Bull, calling the attention of council to some poles and screens used for polling purposes, which had been lost.—Received.

Ellis & Co., asking that the Mayor and Aldermen appoint a day to have their photos taken in a group.—The Mayor appointed this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

F. J. Claxton, requesting a box drain on Fernwood road, complaining that drainage in vicinity of his residence was very defective, and asking council to take some action in the matter.—Referred to street committee.

Belyea & Gregory, re railway from Victoria to Saanich, and asking a bonus of $150,000, and that the Council meet them to discuss the matter. Received and clerk ordered to inform the firm that the council will meet them Monday evening.

National Electric Tramway Company notifying the council of the intention to extend their lines.—Received and referred to city surveyor.

Pandora Avenue Methodist Church, complaining of poor drainage, and thanking street committee for having sidewalk laid so soon—Referred to the street committee with power to act.

W. S. McColl, offering to supply the council with a quantity of broken rock at $1 per load.—Referred to street committee with power to act.

Ratepayers on south side of Elizabeth street, complaining that box drain had not yet been put in and asking that it be done immediately.—Referred to the street committee with power to act.

J. S. Yates, acknowledging receipt of offer from council of $2000 per acre for land on north side of Arm.—Received and filed.

H. P. Lewis, re leper station on Darcy Island.—Received and referred to sanitary committee.

PRIVILEGE.

Ald. Munn here rose to a question of privilege with reference to an article that had appeared in the New Westminster Ledger, written by one Campbell and sent to the Toronto Globe. He said the letter was a tissue of falsehoods and was so written as to give an entirely erroneous idea as to the resources and wealth of Victoria. That there were very few real estate firms in Victoria in comparison to other cities, and that the statement that most of the best stores were occupied by real estate men was untrue, for they were less than 20.

The Mayor said that the Campbells statement should be flatly denied and means taken to let the falsity of the statements be widely known.

The letter was referred to the finance committee and Mayor to answer as they think best.

BY-LAWS.

By-law to amend the revenue by-law of 1889.

Second reading of by-law to compel the connection of the sewerage system with house property.

By-law to grant privilege of operating telegraph and message system read a first time.

By-law to authorize Council to raise and appropriate $25,000 to the British Columbia Agricultural Society, read a second time.

Ald. McKillican, Munn and Holland were appointed trustees of the fund in behalf of the city.

By-law to authorize the extension of Bird Cage Walk to Toronto street, read a second time.

Second reading of by-law to amend streets by-law.

REPORTS.

Electric light committee reported calling attention to the worn out condition of the electric plant, and advising that steps be taken immediately to secure a new plant.

Ald. McKillican said that for two years this recommendation had come in and been laid on the table, but no action taken, and now the time had come when it was imperative a movement should be made at once. He said that the only part of the apparatus that was in first class condition was the dynamos, that the lights were nearly worn out or out of order. He advised purchasing two engines of 500 horsepower each, and the erection of new building.

The report was received and laid on the table.

A special meeting of the council was called for Monday evening next to take into consideration the whole financial question.

Ald. Munn moved a second reading of by-law to amend park by-law re teasing or molesting the park animals—by-law amended and passed.

Ald. Holland called the attention of the council to the fact that there had been no one placed in charge of the leper station on Darcey Island. He thought some action should be taken in this direction, and suggested that as there were two men there who were at present able to look after the wants of the others, that one of them should be put in charge and paid a nominal salary of about $5 per month.

Ald. Holland was empowered to look after the sending of provisions and take what steps he thought necessary.

Ald. Holland called the attention of the council to the necessity of erecting a crematory. He said that now the scavengers were in the habit of carrying all the filth that they gathered up to the Chinese gardens, and that, as they were in the city limits, it was dangerous to the health of the community. He thought that about four acres of land could be purchased at Henley's Point for $2,500 an acre, and suggested that such an offer be made to the owner, and if accepted the crematory be erected there.

Council then adjourned.

A Railway Across the Great Desert.

French scientific men and engineers are discussing the feasibility of a railroad across the desert of Sahara to develop the North African provinces that France holds. A more wonderful triumph of skill, and one more far-reaching in its benefits than any Sahara railway can be, has been the introduction of that great remedy, Paine's Celery Compound — nature's great bridge or highway for the safe passage of humanity from the shores of sickness and disease, to the land of health, joy and peace. By this triumph of medical skill the victims of nervous disorders, clouded brain, insomnia, headaches, neuralgia, dyspepsia, moroseness and morbidness, are enabled to shake off the tightening grasp of disease, and cross over to a new state and condition of perfect health, robustness, perfect digestive vigor, and long life.

Sufferers who have not yet tried this justly popular and well known bridge of escape, are warned not to tarry too long in the land of uncertainty and suffering; else their condition may become so hopeless, that no earthly power will be able to rescue.

THE CRY OF MILLIONS
OH, MY BACK!
STOP IT NOW,
SOON IT WILL BE TOO LATE.

I have been troubled many years with disease of the kidneys and have tried many different remedies and have sought aid from different physicians without relief. About the 15th of April I was suffering from a very violent attack that almost prostrated me in such a manner that I was bent over. When I sat down it was almost impossible for me to get up alone, or to put on my clothes, when kind Providence sent Dr. Henley, with the OREGON KIDNEY TEA, to my hotel. I immediately commenced using the tea. It had an almost miraculous effect, and to the astonishment of all the guests at the hotel, in a few days I am happy to state, that I was a new man. I will recommend the tea to all afflicted as I have been.

37 FINE LOTS 37

Fronting on Oak Bay avenue and adjacent streets, averaging about 63x120 each. This property is a subdivision of 10 acres, being a part of Section LXXIV, Victoria District. All these lots are very desirable building locations; the soil is first-class loam, having a good drainage. In fact there is no finer situation in the surrounding property, and is only a short distance from Fort street. The Electric Tram Cars will run past them in a short time (about 1st July). The Oak Bay avenue has been recently graveled, and there is no doubt but this will one of the finest and most fashionable drives from the city to the beautiful beach at the end of this avenue. These lots are all surveyed and staked off. Conspicuous posts will be placed on the land, so that a stranger will be able to go and inspect any of these lots with the aid of a map of the property now in the press, and which will be ready for distribution at an early date.

WITHOUT RESERVE.

The terms are: ¼ cash, ¼ six months, ¼ twelve months, with interest at 7 per cent.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE.

Terms of sale, cash.

SUITS TO ORDER

CHEAPER THAN EVER.

Since the formation of a union amongst the tailors in Victoria prices for clothing have advanced to such an extent that people are sending East for their suits. And we don't blame them, either, if they can save from $10 to $20 a suit. We pay union prices simply because we have to; not that we consider it right.

We were paying our men the same wages before union prices were enforced that we paid them ten years ago, when we received from ten to twenty per cent. more for our suits.

We have from ten to fifteen thousand dollars invested in tailoring, and we propose to turn it over at least twice a year, regardless of profits. To do this we will make suits cheaper than we did before we paid high prices for making up. Good Tweed and Serge Suits, $25.

Irish Tweeds, $27, $28, $30 and $32. If any other tailor in town will prove that these goods are not genuine Irish Tweeds we will donate a Thousand Dollars to any charitable institution that he may name.

Black worsted suits $40. You will get the same goods for $48 or $50 elsewhere. We intend to make a specialty of tweed suits for $30; regular price is $35 to $40. We have the store for our other business; it costs us nothing for the tailoring department; we have the stock; we have a first-class cutter, and we have capital enough to run it if we don't make a cent. So now is the time to get cheap suits to order.

We are going through the stock marking everything down. Don't take everything for granted. See our new schedule of prices.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES.

The people who live in the four cities of the province ought to be fully informed in respect to the school law, as amended last session in the interest of the Government. At least those residents of the cities who take a personal interest in school affairs, are well aware that the tendency of some of the amendments is, as it was designed that they should be, to place the management of the schools in the hands of MR. ROBSON, a gentleman sometimes described by the Colonist as an "honest" man, but known to every school-teacher and to every school trustee, to be actuated in school affairs solely by his likes and dislikes. The amendments to the old law, which took from the people the power of electing trustees and placed their appointment in the hands of the Government and the municipal authorities, was discussed at the time in these columns, but strange to say those who ought to be most concerned about the welfare of our public schools seemed utterly indifferent to the efforts of the Government to centralize all power in the education office. The Government, by these amendments, acquired the power to appoint three trustees for the Victoria schools, and they have just taken advantage of the clause to show how much contempt they entertain for public opinion. Mr. ROBSON has appointed Messrs. JOHN JESSOP, THOS. MCCONNAN and HENRY F. HEISTERMAN as his representatives, and thereby practically tells the electors of this city that the men who do not possess public confidence are just the persons that the "Minister of Education" delights to honor. Mr. JESSOP was defeated, very recently, when he ran for election as trustee, and we think the people showed sound judgment and good common sense in rejecting him. Mr. JESSOP is some sort of an immigration agent for the Dominion Government, whose office is in the Provincial buildings, and forms an ante-room to the private office of Mr. JOHN ROBSON. Mr. JESSOP and Mr. ROBSON—if the first-named will pardon the simile—are "as thick as thieves," and the latter will not permit Mr. JESSOP to entertain an independent opinion of his own. Col. WOLFENDEN found out that he could not act conscientiously as a trustee and continue to be a servant of the Government, and he chose to retire from a position to which he had been elected, and by that means retained his self-respect and his office of "Queen's Printer" under the Government. Mr. JESSOP must either obey the high behests of the so-called "Minister of Education," or step down and out, as Col. WOLFENDEN did. No diversity of opinion can be permitted without endangering the harmony of the offices, and as Mr. JESSOP is a Government pensioner, it goes without saying that he will be a faithful exponent of Robsonism on the schoolboard. Mr. MCCONNON sought election to the schoolboard for James Bay ward, last year, under the wing of Mr. ROBSON, and was beaten by Mr. MALETTE by a large majority. It is, perhaps, because he was rejected that Mr. ROBSON has selected him as the representative of the bureau, for it would seem that Mr. ROBSON, in all school affairs, does precisely the thing which he ought not to do. Mr. MCCONNAN was beaten because he was known to represent the antagonism of the bureau of Miss CAMERON and other teachers, and he would be beaten to-morrow on the same platform. We confess to a feeling of surprise that two citizens so respectable and intelligent, even though partizan and subservient, should accept a position that can only bring them the contempt of all disinterested men. It remains now for the council to appoint four members of the board, and, if our school system is to remain in our own hands, and not be subjected to James Bay tyranny, it will be necessary for the council to appoint independent men, who have the interest of the schools, and not the success of a political charlatan, at heart

ALESTAR P. GORDON-CUMMING, American citizen, and brother of Sir WILLIAM GORDON-CUMMING, is a resident of Sykesville, Missouri, and a farmer by occupation. Farmer CUMMING has been interviewed by an Examiner reporter, on the subject of his brother's behavior at Tranby Croft, and, of course, regards him innocent. According to Farmer CUMMING, of Missouri, Sir WILLIAM is a cold and reserved man, and did not put himself out to get into the good graces of the WILSON'S. The WILSON'S, accordingly, took offence, hatched the story of his cheating, and the ladies under the excitement of the moment imagine it true and swear by it. ALESTAR CUMMING regards it incredible that his brother should have cheated. The intimacy between him and the Prince was that of college chums and of twenty years' standing. "Instead of managing the affair in a clear-headed, discreet fashion," says ALESTAR CUMMING, "the Prince acted like a fool." There seems to be no lack of correlative testimony as to Sir WILLIAM'S innocence. JOHN RUSSELL YOUNG, at one time United States Minister to China, and intimately acquainted with Sir WILLIAM CUMMING, cannot imagine that he would be guilty of cheating. "The play of Sir WILLIAM," says YOUNG, "whenever I witnessed or shared it, was not that of a gambler, but that of a gentleman high-tempered, impetuous, brusque, outspoken, resolute man, with a capacity for instant anger; sensitive, irritable, ready with a word or a blow, the military temperament at times being unduly developed; stern with men, infinite in sympathy for dogs and dumb domestic animals." "I could imagine anything of Sir WILLIAM," YOUNG goes on to say, "rather than his cheating at cards; a row in the barracks; a duel because of high words over a midnight brandy; heading a steeplechase; flogging a cabman, or presiding over a boxing match at the Pelican Club; although among these experiences there are some I have no right to attribute to CUMMING." YOUNG expressed the opinion that if the charges against CUMMING were true they could only be accounted for on the ground that the "devil is in us more than we are apt to imagine." It is possible that Sir WILLIAM is a much abused man. The curious feature of the whole business is, that it was a woman who let the cat out of the bag. The Prince, a man fifty years of age, ought to have known better than make a confidant of a woman. Truly as "Farmer" CUMMING observed, "the Prince acted like a fool."

RESTRICTION OF IMMIGRATION.

The angry outburst of the Italian element over the "slaughter of their innocents" at New Orleans is bearing fruit in the shape of a movement calling for the restriction of immigration. The American Federation of Labor are preparing to take decided ground against indiscriminate immigration, and particularly against the importation of foreign labor, while in Baltimore a meeting has been held in which speeches were made in favor of "keeping America for Americans." The efforts of the people of other nationalities, say the Baltimorians, to overthrow the Government and institutions of the United States, such as the doings of the Mafia, socialists, anarchists, etc., are exemplifications of what might happen on a dangerous scale if free immigration was permitted to continue. And certain it is there seems to be little or no loyalty to American institutions among the foreign element in the States, unless it is the Germans, barring of course, the Scotch and English element. Nobody ever yet heard of the English requesting that the Union Jack be floated from the tower of the New York City Hall on the Queen's birthday, but on the 17th of March the green banner of Ireland has floated in the breeze from the flagstaff thereon. And now the Italians have petitioned that their flag may be floated from New York's City Hall in commemoration of some event peculiarly their own. This petition, after the recent angry outburst of the Italians anent the New Orleans affair, can only be described as pure "gall." The petition, however, it is said, will be acceeded to. The star spangled banner should be relegated to some museum, and in its place a hybrid rag substituted, which should meet the susceptibilities of the rag, tag and bobtail of Europe.

RUSSIA'S BANK ACCOUNT.

Although Russia is the poorest of first-class European nations, she commands just at present the largest amount of ready money. In the banks of London, Paris, Berlin and Frankfort, Russia has on deposit something like £22,000,000 subject to call, and the cause of the present money disturbance in Europe is predicated upon the fear that Russia may at any moment draw for the entire amount. It is, therefore, to prepare for such an emergency that gold is being imported from the States. It is to strengthen reserves, to provide for the worst should it occur. Students of European affairs assume that no European war can transpire while Russia thus commands the financial situation. No European nation is likely to take such steps as to bring on a war against Russia while she has the power to bankrupt them financially before they have time to move their armies. This argument will scarcely suffice. All is fair in war. It is not to be supposed, that any European nation, Germany, for instance, finding it in her interest to foment war against Russia, would permit that country to withdraw her balances from the German banks at the expense of financial disaster. Russia's object in scattering her cash among the nations of Europe has nothing to do with her war policy. It has to do with her internal policy, rather. The Czar is standing upon a volcano. With all the skill and vigor of his police, an insurrection may break out that would rise to the dignity of a revolution. In such a case Russian banks would not be a safe depository for £22,000,000. The revolutionists might successfully raid the banks, and thus provided with the sinews of war, be able to declare the throne of Russia vacant. Internal conditions are the cause of Russia's dispersal of her cash among the capitals of Europe.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Whiskey is cheap enough but there is a prospect of it becoming cheaper yet. The Japanese process of distilling, called "Ta Kamine," has been secured by an American whiskey trust, and henceforward the Shuefeldt and Calumet distilleries, Chicago, will manufacture under the new process. It does not appear, however, that the consumer will derive any marked benefit by the introduction of the Japanese process of distillation. The expense of distilling will be reduced only about 15 cents per bushel of "mash," which at the most will only lower the price of whiskey 1½ cents per gallon. Only retail and wholesale men will profit by the introduction of the new process.

An American contemporary observes that "there is something in the English social atmosphere which seems to hypnotize the average American woman." Hypnotize is a good word, but it is not as good as "snob" would be in relation to this particular class of American females.

"RING, PLEASE!"

TO THE EDITOR:—Can you inform me if the instructions to the operators at the central end of the telephone wire to answer a request for a number with "Ring, please," has been countermanded? Frequently I have gone to the telephone in my office and in response to a sweet female voice breathing "hello!" have given the number without any sign from the proprietress of the sweet voice that I have been heard. No "ring, please," has followed my request as I have hung on to the instrument and shouted the number five or six times, doubtfully. The annoyance is more marked in the evening than during the day, and I think the telephone manager should either see that his employees carry out his instructions, or inform the public that the rule has been discontinued. Attempted Burglary.

An unsuccessful attempt to burglarize Messrs. Fell & Co.'s store was made last evening. The burglars bored a piece out of the door and unlocked one of the bolts but they struck the wrong place for luckily there is a bar on the door in addition to the bolt which stopped the two night marauders from entering the premises.

In St. Barnabas church last evening special services were held, the occasion being the anniversary of St. Barnabas. The Lord Bishop of Columbia preached an appropriate sermon and Rev. A. As all the witnesses were not present the case was remanded until to-morrow morning.

He took his wife out driving a few evenings ago and while they were out his sister took the two children away. The woman alleges that she is not Cort's wife and is suing for the children, who are now in Portland. Cort says she is his wife and is suing for a divorce, charging his wife with adultery.

Inspectors Appointed.

The Transcontinental Railroad Association have appointed two inspectors, Messrs. Spencer and McClintic, for the Portland and British Columbia cities. They arrived in the city Wednesday evening, and are making arrangements to establish themselves here, this being their headquarters. It is understood that the Association appointed them on account of the San Francisco merchants complaining that the merchants in the Northwest were getting better rates, and were therefore able to undersell them.

Church of England Synod.

The Anglican Church Synod completed its session at New Westminster after a very successful session. Resolutions of regret and sympathy were passed and forwarded to Lady Macdonald. Resolutions were also passed expressing the desirability of a union of the various branches of the Anglican Church in British North America. It was decided to apply to the Provincial Legislature for the incorporation of the Diocesan Synod with all the necessary rights pertaining thereto. A resolution was also passed to establish a Church of England Orphans' Home at an early date at some point to be subsequently chosen. No selection was made as a place for the sitting of the next synod although the following parishes made application for it: St. James, Vancouver; and St. Thomas, Chilliwack.

Indignant Jurors.

The "wretched reporter" of the New Westminster Columbian is responsible for the following item of news. The Chief Justice will no doubt take an early opportunity to give the correct version: "Chief Justice Sir M. B. Begbie adjourned the assizes on Saturday last till Tuesday, for some reason best known to himself, although every case on the docket had been disposed of. The jurors, who were very anxious to get home, were obliged to wait until yesterday, but when yesterday came they found His Lordship had quietly returned to Victoria, and they had no one to discharge them from duty but themselves, which they accordingly did and the Government agent paid them off. The jurors were not pleased with this action of the Chief Justice, as many of them are farmers, and could ill afford to lose a day's work at this season of the year. They felt, and justly too, that it was bad enough to have to do jury duty at this particular season, when crops required so much attention, without being kept three days hanging about town after the duty for which they had been summoned was concluded. The jurors expected some little explanation of the matter but they were disappointed."

Chinaman Stole a Dollar.

An exciting drama was enacted this morning between a nine year old newsboy, a Chinaman and a policeman. It was in two acts. The scene of the first was laid on board of the steamer Danube. The newsboy enters and walks around the steamer selling papers, until the demand was supplied, and then sits down to count up his receipts. The Chinese cook then appears and watches the boy, who in counting his wealth drops a dollar on the deck. The Chinaman deftly picks it up and conceals it about his person, amidst the plaudits of the deck hands and by-standers. The boy makes a piteous appeal and retires in tears and the curtain drops. A half hour is supposed to intervene when the curtain rises for the second act with the same stage setting.

The newsboy accompanied by one of Chief Sheppard's right hand men enters. The boy now suffused with smiles and the arm of the law looking stern. The by-standers are still there and so is the Chinaman. The policeman approaches the Chinaman places him under arrest and then improvises a little court, he sitting as judge, jury and Attorney-General. It took about five minutes for the Chinaman to be found guilty and he disgorged from the folds of his blouse the identical dollar and turned it over to the boy. The curtain then dropped amidst the plaudits of the same deck hands and by-standers.

THE SAME OLD GAME.

Like flowers that bloom in the spring, so do the "sure thing," "big glove" and flim-flammer men ply their business on the Sound boats.

The first full-blown victim announced himself this morning to the police, minus $270, and two of the three men that were the innocent cause of the depletion of his pocket-book are incarcerated in the provincial lock-up, and the third will also be there before night fall. The victim is Christ. Ahlefelt, late of San Francisco, but a few years removed from Denmark.

Who he is and how it happened he tells as follows with his idiosyncrasies of the English language omitted: My wife and I had worked hard for four years, I working as a machinist and she at odd jobs, and we had saved up nearly $500. Work was dull in San Francisco, so I started up north on the Umatilla to look for better work, leaving her behind until I had got settled. I had $400 in gold wrapped up in my handkerchief in my pants pocket, and on the boat I opened it before a lot of people and took out some money and shortly afterwards two men asked me to come into their room to play a game of euchre. I was not well and I thought it would do me good, so I went with them and they had a friend there also. We played for an hour or so, when one said I have a tip top poker hand and will bet $270 on it, at the same time placing that amount on the table. Everybody laughed and looked at their hands and one man pulled out a roll of bills and said "There is $1900 that I will back my hand with" and turning to me said "Put up $270 and lets see how it will turn out." I did not know anything about poker but thought it was a joke and undid my handkerchief and counted out $270. Then somebody said, "I have four nines" and all the money was pushed over to him and we all laughed. I thought it was all a joke and we went on playing euchre for a half hour longer and then stopped. I asked for my $270 back again and they all laughed at me saying, "what do you mean, you lost your money fairly." I went to the captain and told him, and he told me to wait until we got to Port Townsend and then swear out a warrant for their arrest.

When the Umatilla arrived at Victoria early this morning I was up and seeing them going ashore I started to follow, when one of them turned on me and drawing a pistol threatened to shoot me and throw me into the sea, and if some deck hands had not stopped him he would have done it.

Ahlefelt did come ashore and telling the police he was directed to swear out a warrant for their arrest which he did, and by his description two of the men were arrested by the joint action of Sergeants Langley and Walker.

When the men were arrested they did not question for why, but said it was done in California not British Columbia, so you cannot touch us. They were taken to the provincial lock-up, where they gave their names as E. Lewis and A. Johnson, and when searched but a few papers and a small amount of money was found on them. From papers found on Lewis his real name appears to be G. W. Loomis, and he is said to be well known in the Skagit River country.

The men will have a hearing in the provincial court to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock.

London Uses Thirty Gallons of Ink a Day.

From the latest postal statistics it has been ascertained that out of the whole number of letters, etc., dispatched to various addresses at home and abroad, about 30 per cent. are sent from London and its suberbs. The total of letters and postcards dispatched to foreign countries in 1888 is reported at 45,000,000, to which may be added 15,000,000 more as inland correspondence, making a total of 60,000,000 per year—which would give as London's proportion 18,000,000. This number divided by 313 working days results in a daily average of 57,511 letters dispatched from London. To write these letters, taking them on an average at four closely written pages of note size, would consume at the rate of fifty penfuls of ink each, equal to 30 minims, or half a dram, a total of nearly thirty gallons of ink per day.

THE CREATIVE WEEK.

WHAT AN EMINENT DIVINE HAS TO SAY ABOUT IT.

He Believes in the Mosaic Account of the Beginning of Things, and Does not Hesitate to Say so in his Own Emphatic Way.

BROOKLYN, May 24.—The striking sermon Dr. Talmage delivered this morning to an audience which filled the new Tabernacle in every part dealt with a topic of interest to all who have watched the discussions now agitating the churches. Wherever the question of the inspiration of the Bible is raised, the trustworthiness of the Mosaic narrative of the creation is always the point chiefly assailed. The fact that so prominent and eloquent a preacher as Dr. Talmage places himself clearly on record on the side of orthodoxy will doubtless have a marked influence on public opinion. His text was Genesis i, 31, "And the evening and the morning were the sixth day."

From Monday morning to Saturday night gives us a week's work. If we have filled that week with successes we are happy. But I am going to tell you what God did in one week. Cosmogony, geology, astronomy, ornithology, ichthyology, botany, anatomy are such vast subjects that no human life is long enough to explore or comprehend any one of them. But I have thought I might in an unusual way tell you a little of what God did in one week, and that the first week. And whether you make it a week of days or a week of ages, I care not, for I shall reach the same practical result of reverence and worship.

THE FIRST MONDAY MORNING.

The first Monday morning found swinging in space the piled up lumber of rocks and metal and soil and water from which the earth was to be builded. God made up his mind to create a human family, and they must have a house to live in. But where? Not a roof, not a wall, not a door, not a room was fit for human occupancy. There is not a pile of black basalt in Yellowstone park or an extinct volcano in Honolulu so inappropriate for human residence as was this globe at that early period. Moreover, there was no human architect to draw a plan, no quarryman to blast the foundation stones, no carpenter to hew out a beam, and no mason to trowel a wall. Poor prospect! But the time was coming when a being called man was to be constructed, and he was to have a bride; and where he could find a homestead to which he could take her must have been a wonderment to angelic intelligences.

There had been earthquakes enough and volcanoes enough and glaciers enough, but earthquakes and volcanoes and glaciers destroy instead of build. A worse looking world than this never swung. It was heaped up deformities, scarifications and monstrosities. The Bible says it was without form. That is, it was not round, it was not square, it was not octagonal, it was not a rhomboid. God never did take any one in his counsels, but if he had asked some angel about the attempt to turn this planet into a place for human residence the angel would have said: "No, no; try some other world; the crevices of this earth are too deep; its crags are too appalling; its darkness is too thick."

But Monday morning came. I think it was a spring morning and about half past four o'clock. The first thing needed was light. It was not needed for God to work by, for he can work as well in the darkness. But light may be necessary, for angelic intelligences are to see in its full glory the process of world building. But where are the candles, where are the candelabra, where is the chandelier? No rising sun will roll in the morning, for if the sun is already created its light will not yet reach the earth in three days. Nor moon nor stars can brighten this darkness. The moon and stars are not born yet, or if created their light will not reach the earth for some time yet. But there is need of immediate light. Where shall it come from? Desiring to account for things in a natural way you say, and reasonably say, that heat and electricity throw out light independent of the sun, and that the metallic bases throw out light independent of the sun, and that alkalies throw out light independent of the sun.

Oh, yes: all that is true, but I do not think that is the way light was created. The record makes me think that, standing over this earth that spring morning, God looked upon the darkness that palled the heights of this world, and the chasms of it, and the awful reaches of it, and uttered, whether in the Hebrew of earth or some language celestial I know not, that word which stands for the subtle, bright, glowing and all pervading fluid, that word which thrills and garlands and lifts everything it touches, that word the full meaning of which all the chemists of the ages have busied themselves in exploring, that word which suggests a force that flies one hundred and ninety thousand miles in a second, and by undulations seven hundred and twenty seven trillions in a second, that one word that God utters—Light!

And instantly the darkness began to shimmer, and the thick folds of blackness to lift, and there were scintillations and coruscations and flashes and a billowing up of resplendence, and in great sheets it spread out northward, southward, eastward, westward, and a radiance filled the atmosphere until it could hold no more of the brilliance. Light now to work by while supernatural intelligences look on. Light, the first day of the week. Light, the joy of all the centuries. Light, the greatest blessing that ever touched the human eye. The robe of the Almighty is woven out of it, for he covers himself with light as with a garment. Oh, blessed light! I am so glad this was the first thing created that week. Good thing to start every week with is light. That will make our work easier. That will keep our disposition more radiant. That will hinder even our losses from becoming too somber. Give us more light—natural light, intellectual light, spiritual light, everlasting light. For lack of it the body stumbles, and the soul stumbles. O thou Father of Lights, give us light!

The great German philosopher in his last moment said, "I want more light." A minister of Christ recently dying cried out in exultation, "I move into the light!" Mr. Toplady, the immortal hymnologist, in his expiring moments exclaimed, "Light! Light!" Heaven itself is only more light. Upon all superstition, upon all ignorance, upon all sorrow let in the light. But now the light of the first Monday is receding. The blaze is going out. The colors are dimming. Only part of the earth's surface is visible. It is 6 o'clock, 7 o'clock, 8 o'clock, obscuration and darkness. It is Monday night. "And the evening and the morning were the first day."

TUESDAY'S WORK.

Now it is Tuesday morning. A delicate and tremendous undertaking is set apart for this day. There was a great superabundance of water. God, by the wave of his hand, this morning gathers part of it in suspended reservoirs, and part of it he orders down into the rivers and lakes and seas. How to hang whole Atlantic oceans in the clouds without their spilling over except in right quantities and at right times was an undertaking that no one but Omnipotence would have dared. But God does it as easily as you would lift a glass of water. There he hoists two clouds, each thirty miles wide and five miles high, and balances them. Here he lifts the cirrous clouds and spreads them out in great white banks as though it had been snowing in heaven. And the cirro-stratus clouds in long parallel lines, so straight you know an infinite geometer has drawn them.

I will look again when Christ shall have restored it, swinging now between two Edens; because I want you to realize something of what a mighty God he is, and the utter folly of trying to war against him; because I want you to make peace with this Chief of the Universe through the Christ who mediates between offended Omnipotence and human rebellion; because I want you to know how fearfully and wonderfully you are made, your body as well as your soul an Omnipotent achievement; because I want you to realize that order reigns throughout the universe, and that God's watches tick to the second, and that his clocks strike regularly, though they strike once in a thousand years.

THE FISHES AND THE BIRDS.

Now it is Friday morning in the first week of the world's history. Water, but not a fin swimming it; air, but not a wing flying it. It is a silent world. Can it be that it was made only for vegetables? But hark! There is a swirl and a splashing in all the four rivers of Pison, Gihon, Hiddekel and Euphrates. They are all aswim with life, some darting like arrows through split crystal, and others quiet in dark pools like shadows. Everything, from spotted trout to behemoth, all colored, all shaped, the ancestors of finny tribes that shall by their wonders of construction confound the Agassizes, the Cuviers and the Linnæuses and the ichthyologists of the more than six thousand years following this Friday of the first week.

And while I stand on the banks of these Paradisaical rivers, watching these finny tribes, I hear a whirr in the air and I look up and behold wings—wings of larks, robins, doves, eagles, flamingoes, albatrosses, brown threshers. Creatures of all color—blue, as if dipped in the skies; fiery, as if they had flown out of the sunsets; golden, as if they had taken their morning bath in buttercups. And while I am studying the colors they begin to carol and chirp and coo and twitter and run up and down the scales of a music that they must have heard at heaven's gate. Yes, I find them in Paradise on this the first Friday afternoon of the world's existence. And I sit down on the bank of the Euphrates, and the murmur of the river, together with the chant of birds in the sky, puts me into a state of somnolence. "And the evening and the morning were the fifth day."

BEASTS AND MEN.

Now it is Saturday morning of the world's first week and with this day the week closes. But oh, what a climacteric day! The air has its population and the water its population. Yet the land has not one inhabitant. But here they com by the voice of God created! Horses grander than those which in after time Job will describe as having neck clothed with thunder. Cattle enough to cover a thousand hills. Sheep shepherded by him who made for them the green pastures. Cattle superior to the Alderneys and Ayrshires and Devonshires of after times. Leopards so beautiful we are glad they cannot change their spots. Lions without their fierceness and all the quadruped world so gentle, so sleek, so perfect.

Look out how you treat this animal creation, whether they walk the earth or swim the waters or fly the air. Do you not notice that God gave them precedence of the human race? They were created Friday and Saturday morning, as man was created Saturday afternoon. They have a right to be here. He who galls a horse, or exposes a cow to the storm, or beats a dog, or mauls a cat, or gambles at the pigeon shooting, or tortures an insect, will have to answer for it in the judgment day. You may console yourself that these creatures are not immortal and they cannot appear against you, but the God who made these creatures and who saw the wrong you did them will be there. Better look out, you stock raisers and railroad companies who bring the cattle on trains without food or water for three or four days in hot weather, a long groan of agony from Omaha to New York.

Better look out, you farmer riding behind that limping horse with a nail that the blacksmith drove into the quick. Better look out, you boys stoning bullfrogs and turning turtles upside down, and robbing birds' nests. But something is wanting in Paradise and the week is almost done. Who is there to pluck the flowers of this Edenic lawn? Who is there to command these worlds of quadruped and ... and bird? For whom has God put back the curtain from the face of sun and moon and star? The world wants an emperor and empress. It is Saturday afternoon. No one but the Lord Almighty can originate a human being. In the world where there are in the latter part of the Nineteenth century over fourteen hundred million people, a human being is not a curiosity.

But how about the first human eye that was ever kindled, the first human ear that was ever opened, the first human lung that ever breathed, the first human heart that ever pulsated? That needed the origination of a God. He had no model to work by. What stupendous work for a Saturday afternoon! He must originate a style of human heart through which all the blood in the body must pass every three minutes. He must make that heart so strong that it can, during each day, lift what would be equal to one hundred and twenty tons of weight, and it must be so arranged as to beat over thirty-six million times every year. About five hundred muscles must be strung in the right place, and at least two hundred and fifty bones constructed. Into this body must be put at least nine million nerves. Over three thousand perspiring pores must be made for every inch of fleshly surface.

The human voice must be so constructed it shall be capable of producing seventeen trillion five hundred and ninety-two billion one hundred and eighty-six million forty-four thousand four hundred and fifteen sounds. But all this the most insignificant part of the human being. The soul! Ah, the construction of that God himself would not be equal to if he were any the less of a God. Its understanding, its will, its memory, its conscience, its capacities of enjoyment or suffering, its immortality! What a work for a Saturday afternoon! Ayel Before night there were to be two such human and yet immortal beings constructed. The woman as well as the man was formed Saturday afternoon. Because a deep sleep fell upon Adam, and by divine surgery a portion of his side was removed for the nucleus of another creation, it has

3 PRACTICAL POINTS

One of the most successful German physicians gave as the secret of his wonderful success these three important points:—

1. Keep the Head Cool.
2. Keep the Bowels Open.
3. Keep the Feet Warm.

These conditions are not so easily obtained as one would think. Why? Because with colds and unhealthy blood a vigorous circulation cannot be kept up, and because the fashionable occupation of most people tends to clog up the bowels and produce constipation. The success of B. B. B., like that of the German physician, lies in so purifying the blood and regulating the bowels, liver and stomach, that these three conditions are fulfilled easily, and disease can find no lodgment in the body.

THE BEST SPRING MEDICINE.

B B B

This medicine does purify the blood and cure all diseases arising from impure or unhealthy blood. It does regulate the entire system and cure constipation, dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache, scrofula, skin diseases, rheumatism and all disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels. During the past ten years over one million bottles have been sold in Canada, and, although we guarantee every bottle to do all we claim, we have not received a single complaint.

THE CREATIVE WEEK.

been supposed that perhaps days and nights passed between the masculine and feminine creations. But no! Adam was not three hours unmated.

If a physician can by anæsthetics put one into a deep sleep in three minutes, God certainly could have put Adam into a profound sleep in a short while that Saturday afternoon, and made the deep and radical excision without causing distress. By a manipulation of the dust the same hand that molded the mountains molded the features and molded the limbs of the father of the human race. But his eyes did not see, and his nerves did not feel, and his muscles did not move, and his lungs did not breathe, and his heart did not pulsate. A perfect form he lay along the earth, symmetrical and of godlike countenance. Magnificent piece of Divine carpentry and Omnipotent sculpturing, but no vitality. A body without a soul.

Then the source of all life stooped to the inanimate nostril and lip, and as many a skillful and earnest physician has put his lips to a patient in comatose state and breathed into his mouth and nostril, and at the same time compressed the lungs, until that which was artificial respiration became natural respiration, so methinks God breathed into this cold sculpture of a man the breath of life, and the heart begins to tramp, and the lungs to inhale, and the eyes to open, and the entire form to thrill, and with the rapture of a life just come the prostrate being leaps to his feet—a man!

But the scene of this Saturday is not yet done, and in the atmosphere, drowsy with the breath of flowers, and the song of bobolinks and robin redbreasts, the man slumbers, and by anæsthetics, divinely administered, the slumber deepens until without the oozing of one drop of blood at the time or the faintest scar afterward, that portion is removed from his side which is to be built up the Queen of Paradise, the daughter of the great God, the mother of the human race, the benediction of all ages, woman the wife, afterward woman the mother. And as the two join hands and stroll down along the banks of the Euphrates toward a bower of mignonette and wild rose and honeysuckle, and are listening to the call of the whip-poor-will from the aromatic thickets, the sun sinks beneath the horizon. "And the evening and the morning were the sixth day."

Half of this Tuesday work done, the other half is the work of compelling the waters to lie down in their destined places. So God picks up the solid ground and packs it up into five elevations, which are the continents. With his finger he makes deep depressions in them, and these are the lakes, while at the piling up of the Alleghanies and Sierra Nevadas and Pyrenees and Alps and Himalayas the rest of the waters start by the law of gravitation to the lower places, and in their run down till become the rivers, and then all around the earth these rivers come into convention and become oceans beneath, as the clouds are oceans above. How soon the rivers got to their places when God said: "Hudson and James and Amazon, down to the Atlantic; Oregon and Sacramento down to the Pacific."

Three-quarters of the earth being water and only one-quarter being land, nothing but Almightiness could have caged the three-fourths so that they could not have devoured the one-fourth. Thank God for water and plenty of it. What a hint that God would have the human race very clean! Three-fourths of the world water. Pour it through the homes and make them pure. Pour it through the prisons and make their occupants moral. Pour it through the streets and make them healthy. There are several thousand people asleep in Greenwood who but for the filthy streets of Brooklyn and New York would have been today well and in churches. Moreover, there never was a filthy street that remained a moral street.

How important an agency of reform water is, was illustrated by the fact that when the ancient world got outrageously wicked it was plunged into the deluge and kept under for months till its iniquity was soaked out of it. But I rejoice that on the first Tuesday of the world's existence the water was taught to know its place, and the Mediterranean lay down at the feet of Europe, and the Gulf of Mexico lay down at the feet of North America, and Geneva lay down at the feet of the Alps, and Lake George fell to sleep in the lap of the Adirondacks. "And the evening and the morning were the second day."

THE CREATION OF VEGETATION.

Now it is Wednesday morning of the world's first week. Gardening and horticulture will be born today. How queer the hills look, and so unattractive they seem hardly worth having been made. But now all the surfaces are changing color. Something beautiful is creeping all over them. It has the color of emerald. Ay, it is herbage. Hail to the green grass! God's favorite color and God's favorite plant, as I judge from the fact that he makes a larger number of them than of anything else. But look yonder! Something starts out of the ground and goes higher up, higher and higher, and spreads out broad leaves. It is a palm tree. Yonder is another growth, and its leaves hang far down, and it is a willow tree. And yonder is a growth with mighty sweep of branches. And here they come—the pear, and the apple, and the peach, and the pomegranate, and groves and orchards and forests, their shadows and their fruit girdling the earth.

We are pushing agriculture and fruit culture to great excellence in the Nineteenth century, but we have nothing now to equal what I see on this first Wednesday of the world's existence. I take a taste of one of the apples this Wednesday morning, and I tell you it mingles in its juices all the flavors of Spitzbergen and Newtown Pippin and Rhode Island greening and Canvers Winter Sweet and Roxbury russet and Hubbardston Nonesuch, but added to all, and overpowering all other flavors, the paradisaical juice that all the orchards of the Nineteenth century fail to reach. I take a taste of the pear, and it has all the luxury of the three thousand varieties of the Nineteenth century; all the Seckel and the Bartlett of the pomological gardens of later times an acidity compared with it. And the grapes! Why, this one cluster has in it the richness of whole vineyards of Catawbas and Concords and Isabellas. Fruits of all colors, of all odors, of all flavors. No hand of man yet made to pack it or tongue to taste it. The banquet of the human race is being spread before the arrival of the first guest.

In the fruit of that garden was the seed for the orchards and gardens of the hemispheres. Notice that the first thing that God made for food was fruit, and plenty of it. Slaughter houses are of later invention. Nor am I from being a vegetarian, but an almost exclusive meat diet is depraving. Savages confine themselves almost exclusively to animal food, and that is one reason that they are savages. Give your children more apples and less mutton. The world will have to give dominance to the fruit diet of Paradise before it gets back to the morals of Paradise. May God's blessing come down on the orchards and vineyards of America, and keep back the frosts and the curculio. But we must not forget that it is Wednesday evening in Eden, and upon that perfect fruit of those perfect trees let the curtain drop. "And the evening and the morning were the third day."

PUTTING THINGS TO RIGHTS.

Now it is Thursday morning of the world's first week. Nothing will be created today. The hours will be passed in scattering fogs and mists and vapors. The atmosphere must be swept clean. Other worlds are to hove in sight. This little ship of the earth has seemed to have all the ocean of immensity to itself. But mightier craft are to be hailed today on the high seas of space. First, the moon's white sail appears and does very well until the sun bursts upon the scene. The light that on the previous three mornings was struck from an especial word now gathers in the sun, moon and stars. One for the day, the others for the night. It seemed as if they had all within twenty-four hours been created. Ah, this is a great time in the world's first week. The moon, the nearest neighbor to our earth appears, her photograph to be taken in the Nineteenth century, when the telescope shall bring her within one hundred and twenty miles of New York.

A learned man once asked an old Christian man who had no advantages of schooling, why he believed there was a God, and the good old man, who probably had never heard an argument on the subject in all his life, made this noble reply: "Sir, I have been here going hard upon fifty years. Every day since I have been in this world I see the sun rise in the east and set in the west. The north star stands where it did the first time I saw it; the seven stars and Job's coffin keep on the same path in the sky and never turn out. It isn't so with man's work. He makes clocks and watches; they may run well for awhile, but they get out of fix and stand stock still. But the sun and moon and stars keep on this same way all the while. The heavens declare the glory of God." Yea, I preach this, because I want you to walk in appreciation of Addison's sublime sentiment when he writes:

> The spacious firmament on high,
> With all the blue etherial sky

Mothers

Castoria is recommended by physicians for children teething. It is a purely vegetable preparation, its ingredients are published around each bottle. It is pleasant to the taste and absolutely harmless. It relieves constipation, regulates the bowels, quiets pain, cures diarrhœa and wind colic, allays feverishness, destroys worms, and prevents convulsions, soothes the child and gives it refreshing and natural sleep. Castoria is the children's panacea—the mothers' friend. 35 doses, 35 cents.

Goes the story of the excellence of Hood's Sarsaparilla and what it has accomplished, and this is the strongest advertising which is done on behalf of this medicine. We endeavor to tell honestly what Hood's Sarsaparilla is and what it will do, but what it has done is far more important and far more potent. Its unequalled record of cures is sure to convince those who have never tried Hood's Sarsaparilla that it is an excellent medicine.
